SHINKO ELECTRIC INDUSTRIES CO., LTD. Receives Intel's Preferred Quality Supplier Award

NAGANO, Japan, April 10, 2013 – SHINKO ELECTRIC INDUSTRIES CO., LTD. has been recognized as one of 17 companies receiving Intel Corporation's Preferred Quality Supplier (PQS) award for their performance in 2012. SHINKO ELECTRIC INDUSTRIES CO., LTD. is recognized for their significant contributions providing Intel with plastic laminated packages and heat spreaders, deemed essential to Intel's success.

"Shinko is very grateful to receive this honorable PQS award and very pleased to have our efforts to be acknowledged by Intel," said Fumio Kuraishi, president, SHINKO ELECTRIC INDUSTRIES CO., LTD. "We would like to express sincere appreciation to Intel for guidance and support to us. We will continue to keep up with our work and build stronger relationship with Intel."

"During 2012, Shinko continued to provide strong support for several platform development and certifications while continuing their strong commitment to developing new building block technologies for Intel's future product roadmap. We count on Shinko as our technology development partner and request their continued support for Intel substrate roadmap," said Hamid Azimi, Director, Substrate and Die Embedded Technology Development.

The PQS award is part of Intel's Supplier Continuous Quality Improvement (SCQI) program that encourages suppliers to strive for excellence and continuous improvement. To qualify for PQS status, suppliers must score 80 percent on a report card that assesses performance and ability to meet cost, quality, availability, technology, environmental, social and governance goals. Suppliers must also achieve 80 percent or greater on a challenging improvement plan and demonstrate solid quality and business systems. Additional information about the SCQI program is available at <http://intel.com/go/quality>.

A celebration to honor PQS award winners was held in San Jose. In addition, there was an announcement on Intel's website at <http://intel.com>.
